About Me.....

After that period of teaching myself. I realized my passion and ability to really work efficiently with computers more than anything else. So, I started learning more about the world of electronics, computers, web and internet in 2000. It was difficult for me because I did not receive any prior training nor education on how to use it. But, with the encouragement and help of my neighbor and a good friend who was a computer engineer from Palestine I was able to begin my baby steps towards entering this world of webbing and learning more about it. He taught me alot at the beginning about basics of using the computer. In the same year I was introduced to internetting and wide web and I was really astonished, impressed and amazed. Internetting has indeed helped me alot learn alot more than I have anticipated. For example the following are a few of what I have taught myself but not limited to; photoshop, web design, audio and video editing and production through special programmes. To add, I followed up on "Click" programm that used to broadcast through Abu-dhabi satellite T.V. station
